ENFUSION® HAND HELD CONTROL UNIT

NEW PRODUCT SHOWCASE

Where Convenience Meets Versatility

IPEX is pleased to introduce its latest and most advanced Enfusion electrofusion unit to date. The new hand held control unit offers users increased convenience and versatility versus previous product options.

With a larger input voltage, current, and frequency operating range the Enfusion hand held control unit will operate properly with a wider range of power sources. The new unit also comes programmed with a comprehensive list of default codes, displayed on the hand unit, to alert installers of any problems that may be occurring.

The new model is supplied in a durable, easy to carry plastic case. During use, the central processor is secured in the case while the 2.2lb (1 kg) hand held unit can be removed and used up to 33ft (10m) away, allowing installers to control the unit without carrying around the entire processor. The new unit retains all of the auto diagnostics and easy to use interface found on the previous IPEX Enfusion electro-fusion unit ensuring an easy and consistent fusion cycle every time.
